Death of

Hon. L. M. Ware

The death of Hon. L. M. Ware, at St. Andrews, July 4th, removes from Florida one of the state's most interesting and well-known characters.

A republican in politics, the deceased was respected by political friend and foe alike, and his personal friends were numbered only by his personal acquaintances.

Mr. Ware was elected to the legislature from Washington county and served in the session of 1903 as the only republican member of that body—a distinction which can be appreciated by those who know something of the solidity of the democratic party in Florida. In 1904, he was the candidate of his party for representative in congress from the third district, though, of course, with no hope of being elected.

His death will be a loss to St. Andrews where he had lived for so many years, and a source of regret to those who knew him in every part of the state.

Ex-Senator Call's
Flop to Roosevelt

In a recent issue the Washington Post discusses Senator Call's recent declaration as follows:

Ex-Senator Wilkinson Call of Florida, is out as a pronounced Roosevelt man. He recently gave an interview to the Metropolis, an evening newspaper published at Jacksonville, in which he declared his support of Roosevelt for the presidency. He has organized a Roosevelt club at Ortega, a suburb of Jacksonville, where he resides, and has provided the organization with a club house. All this has attracted considerable notice in the south, and has led to much speculation as to whether it is an initiatory step toward Mr. Call identifying himself with the republican party permanently. Some, of course, are saying that Mr. Call is after an office, but in any event his action is bound to have no little influence in the south.

Mr. Call is now past 71 years of age. He was elected to the senate after the civil war, but was not permitted to take his seat. He was again elected to the senate for the term beginning in March, 1879, and served there continuously for three terms, making eighteen years.

Commenting on the Post's interesting, but somewhat overdrawn, estimate of the ex-senator's importance in Florida and the south, the Montgomery Journal sizes the matter up in what we regard as a very correct way, as follows:

We had not noticed the purported interview in the Jacksonville Metropolis, but we do not doubt that it appeared in the Metropolis as stated in the Post. What we wish to say, however, is that we have not seen any comments on the interview in any southern paper. The Post, therefore, so far as we have seen, is mistaken in the assertion that "all this has attracted considerable notice in the south," and that "there is much speculation as to whether this is an initiatory step toward Mr. Call identifying himself with the republican party permanently."

The interview and the action of Call, have fallen stillborn upon the public. The south doesn't care a continental what a disappointed old man, evidently chagrined over his defeat for re-election to the senate, has done that is cranky or freakish. They look on the matter with pity and with no sympathy.

Call will lead no one to Roosevelt who has not already been with the republican party, unless it is some office-seeking individual who hasn't any political principles, and wouldn't know one if he met it in the highway.

Call's foolishness will have no effect except to bring ridicule upon himself. If he had bolted to McKinley, who, though a republican, was an even-balanced man, and who was a patriot and a statesman without freakish trimmings, the south would have looked upon his bolt as justified by some sort of reason, judgment and sense.

As it stands the south looks on with pity at the plight of a "poor old man."

HOW TAFT AND WALLACE QUARRELED.

The Birmingham Ledger has gone to writing comedy, the latest being a fiction synopsis of the little Wallace-Taft tete-a-tete about which the newspapers have had so much to say recently. If the Ledger's words were set to music, it might pass for comic opera, but here it is just as the Ledger imagined it:

Engineer Wallace said: "I have resigned the job because I do not want it, but if you insist I will work till you get a man." Said Mr. Taft: "I demand your resignation this moment." Said Mr. Wallace: "I resigned yesterday and you know it." Said Mr. Taft: "You gave up the job for more money." Said Mr. Wallace: "I gave it up for health, pleasure and causes that you know full well. I have dollars enough." Said Mr. Taft: "You ought to be more patriotic." Said Mr. Wallace: "I have served my country longer than you have and will brook no scolding from you." Said Mr. Taft: "I will publish an official card about you." Said Mr. Wallace: "If you do I will make a statement to the public." Said Mr. Taft: "I will say that you love money more than you love your country." Said Mr. Wallace: "I will tell that you said you only want a constructing engineer on the isthmus." Then the two men glared at each other and Mr. Wallace walked out into the world no longer in the government service, and Mr. Taft wrapped the flag around his rotund body and wrote the card.

We, the people of the United States, smiled and said, gentlemen, you are both our hired men and you are both efficient officers and we like you and can scrap it out in any way that seems pleasant to you. We, the people, are satisfied.

TEAMSTERS STRIKE
MAY SPREAD AGAIN

By Associated Press.

Chicago, July 7.—A spread of the teamsters' strike to baggage and parcel companies was possible to-day as a result of the action of the teamsters' joint council in directing all baggage and parcel delivery drivers to refuse deliveries to strike bound concerns. While the joint council was in session the Department Drivers' union voted overwhelmingly to continue the strike indefinitely. Action concerning deliveries by the express companies was taken as a result of the announcement by Judge Holdom to-day that he would issue injunctions against six concerns compelling them to deliver goods to "truck houses. Although the express companies had been endeavoring to prevent a clash with their drivers, it was believed they could not avoid asking them to make deliveries to strike bound firms. The firms that would be affected by the injunction employ about 450 drivers. The joint council also decided to send out 2,000 strikers to-day to compel union teamsters at work to make contributions to the strike fund.

FARMER FALLS
HEIR TO $5,000,000

By Associated Press.

New York, July 7.—Thomas O'Keefe, a Germantown, N. Y., farmer, has learned that he is one of the heirs to a fortune of $5,000,000 supposed to have been left by Dennis O'Keefe, his cousin, who died some years ago in Texas. The information came from a lawyer in Ireland, who had been searching for heirs in the neighborhood of Kibush, Ireland, where Dennis O'Keefe lived until 1894, when he sailed for America.

Thomas O'Keefe is almost sixty-six years old. He has placed his affairs in the hands of Douglas Conklin, cashier of the Bank of Huntington.

BRIDAL COUPLE'S FERRYMEN DROWNED

CABLE BROKE AND BRIDE AND GROOM NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH IN WATER.

By Associated Press.
Danville, Va., July 7.—Hampton Oakes, white, and James Pannell, a negro, ferryman at Toller's ferry, on the Staunton river, were drowned while conducting a bridal party across the river yesterday.

In the boat were J. A. Ferguson and his bride of a few hours, Rev. Brooks, the minister who performed the ceremony, and Walton Johnston, besides the two who drowned.

One cable connection of the boat, with overhead cable, broke, causing the boat to turn with the current and fill. Pannell and Oakes jumped and were immediately drowned. Johnston climbed to the overhead cable and with hard work succeeded in towing the boat to shore.

The bridal couple and the minister were taken from the water nearly dead. The groom's horse was drowned. The minister's horse was lodged in a tree, but was afterwards rescued.

BLACK SEA FLEET
CHASING MUTINEERS.

eral staff of the navy, informed the Associated Press that one report said she had sailed westward in the direction of Livadia, raising the suspicion that it is the intention of the crew to bombard the emperor's summer palace. Another rumor said that when the Kniaz Potemkin was last seen she was headed southeast as if bound for the Caucasus littoral. This subsequently was supplemented by a report from Sebastopol that the Kniaz Potemkin has put into Tuapse, half way to Poti, and had been captured in some mysterious fashion by soldiers.

The torpedo boat destroyer Smeltz managed by a crew of officers and bluejackets, who volunteered to sink the mutineer, reached Theodosia several hours after the Kniaz Potemkin had departed and after hurriedly coaling, the Smeltz put to sea presumably in pursuit of the rebel ship.

Fleet in Hot Pursuit.
St. Petersburg, July 7.—(2:30 a. m.)—According to the latest reports the Kniaz Potemkin has escaped her pursuers and is still at large in the Black Sea with the torpedo boat destroyer Smeltz and the Black Sea fleet hot on her trail.

There is little doubt that she is heading for Poti or Batoum, but no dispatches from either place have been received at 2 o'clock this morning.

Advice received by the Associated Press indicate that the tension is increasing in Caucasus where the turbulent elements are excited over the reports regarding the condition of the fleet and the increasing fear of the arrival of the Kniaz Potemkin at Caucasus port. It will have the effect of pouring oil on a smoldering flame. A bomb was thrown at Tiflis to-day.

Insurance Companies Fight Claims.
St. Petersburg, July 7.—The Russian fire insurance companies are disposed to fight the Odessa claims under a clause in their charters exempting them in case of a foreign war or insurrection. A dispatch from Odessa says the companies already have refused the payment of policies.

Losses at Odessa.
New York, July 7.—According to the Odessa correspondent of the Novosti, the total losses through the outbreak at Odessa are estimated at $5,000,000, says the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times.

The insurance officers refuse the payment of claims, alleging that the state is responsible.

The newspapers are not allowed to publish details of the doings of the Kniaz Potemkin or even the proclamation issued by the crew guaranteeing the protection of foreign commerce.

To Issue Manifesto.
St. Petersburg, July 7.—Reports current to-day tend to confirm the advice of the Associated Press from Moscow, July 5, to the effect that the emperor is prepared to go to the Kremlin and issue a manifesto summoning representatives of the people.

Agitation is Serious.
St. Petersburg, July 7.—Advice received by the minister of the interior, Boulgoin, report a serious antisemitic agitation in the governments of Ekaterinoslav and Kherson. According to dispatches from Odessa the president of the Permanent Lawyer's Association has been given by the authorities notice to leave the city within fifteen days. The dispatches also say that the insurance capitalists are refusing to pay the losses by fire in the port during the disturbances.

General Linevitch's telegraphic report to the emperor charging the Japanese with using dum dum bullets will probably be made the subject of a communication to the powers protesting against the violation of the general convention.

Among the Liberals a story is being industriously circulated, and believed, that Japan, at the Washington peace conference, will demand that the Russian people in order to insure its observance in case of a change of government.

JACKSONVILLE BARTENDERS STRIKE

Over Fifty of Them Have Walked Out and But Five Saloons Remain With Union.

The Jacksonville Metropolis of Thursday says:
The Bartenders Union in this city is on a strike, because all but five of the saloon keepers have removed the union label. Over fifty mixologists are out enjoying the fresh air.

Cause of Trouble.
The cause of the trouble occurred recently when a saloon on Bay street employed a bartender who was not a member of the union. It is claimed by the local of Jacksonville that he had been a member, but that he was suspended in Tampa. He applied for membership again here, but this was refused by the Jacksonville local, on the ground that they had not the power to act in the premises.

What a Dealer Says.
"The movement which culminated in the strike of yesterday was inaugurated over a month ago by the Liquor Dealers' Association. Heretofore when we wanted men we were compelled to go to the Jacksonville local of the Bartenders' National League and take what they offered us. We desired to put an end to this and to prevent organized labor from dictating to us. We believe that in a free country we ought to have the liberty of employing whom we choose. We are not opposed to labor, but we do not mean to submit to demands upon us which mean that we shall run our business to suit those whom we employ."

Thus spoke a well known liquor dealer to-day to a Metropolis reporter.

Claim of the Union.
The recording secretary of the Jacksonville local in giving the grounds for calling the men out, said:

"We did not initiate this movement. There were no demands upon us at all. The fact is, the proprietors of saloons took down the union label without giving us a hearing. Of all the unions in America ours is the most lenient. In the first place we agree to work ten hours a day, and standing behind a bar and waiting on customers without the privilege of sitting down for ten hours is a pretty hard day's work but we have never kicked for shorter hours. So far as dictating whom the saloon proprietors shall employ is out of the question. We have never done that. In the case cited we told the manager of that saloon that if he wanted to employ that man he could do so, but that the unions of Jacksonville would boycott him, and the result and chances were with him. We threatened no violence, neither did we say that we would insist upon the fellow coming out. We went no further than to maintain the principles of unionism. So far as the scale is concerned, it is little enough in Jacksonville—$15 and up. There is another matter which the proprietors of saloons fail to take into consideration. We protect them as well as ourselves. If any member of our association is charged with not looking after the interests of his employer and is found to be negligent or unreliable, he is debarred from membership quickly. We have always tried to maintain a high standard of business dealings among our members, and have insisted upon every bartender giving faithful and by all means honest service.

The fight will be watched with interest. In the meantime most of the proprietors of the saloons has donned white aprons and are serving drinks to their customers.

ELEVEN MEN WERE DROWNED

By Associated Press.

Chippewa Falls, Minn., July 7.—Eleven log drivers were drowned in the Chippewa river at Little Falls dam to-day. They lost control of the bateau and were unable to reach shore, being swept over the dam.

Tunnel Completed.
Brigue, Switzerland, July 7.—The piercing of the second tunnel through the Simplon was completed during the night.

It is an undoubted truth that the less one has to do the less one finds time to do it. One yawn, one procrastination, one can do it when one will, and therefore one seldom does it at all, whereas those who have a great deal of business must buckle to it, and then they always find time enough to do it in.

A Judicial Reproof.
A justice once reproved a would be suicide thus: "Young man, you have been found guilty of attempting to drown yourself in the river. Only consider what your feelings would have been had you succeeded."—Green Baz.

tion of minister of the interior to succeed M. Boulgoin, to M. Shipoff, of Moscow, former president of the Zemstvo congress. According to popular rumor M. Shipoff will accept only on condition that full freedom be accorded to the press and to public meetings.

Will Bombard Yalta.
Yalta, Crimea, July 7.—Intense excitement prevails here owing to fear that the Kniaz Potemkin will bombard the city.
